

On this page:

What the NDIS pricing arrangements are

What the NDIS pricing arrangements are for

What the NDIS pricing arrangements are like

What the NDIS pricing arrangements are

The NDIS pricing arrangements provide guidance on appropriate maximum prices for NDIS supports. Providers can use the arrangements to inform their prices.

This is set out in the NDIS pricing schedule document.

You and your providers can negotiate what is the appropriate and reasonable price for you and your NDIS supports needs.

You must agree to any changes in your pricing before they can be made.

What the NDIS pricing arrangements are for

We provide pricing guidance in the pricing arrangement to make sure you get value for money in your NDIS supports.

We regularly review and make changes to NDIS pricing. We consider things like the business costs of delivering NDIS supports and wages for support workers.

NDIS prices need to be fair, based on evidence and sustainable so you can continue to have access to high quality supports.

What the NDIS pricing arrangements are like

The NDIS pricing schedule

The NDIS pricing schedule is a document that has information about what we consider to be the appropriate and reasonable maximum prices for all NDIS supports.

Download the NDIS pricing schedule:

- NDIS pricing schedule \(PDF 4MB\) - effective 1 July 2026
- NDIS pricing schedule \(DOCX 1.3MB\) - effective 1 July 2026

---

Tip: You can ask for help to understand or translate the pricing arrangements.

You can get help to navigate the arrangements by talking about them with a family member, friend or someone who helps you with your plan, like your my NDIS contact or support coordinator.

---

Related information

Pricing arrangements and price limits

What is the support catalogue

What are NDIS supports

This page current as of 22 June 2026