Posted on:
20 February 2019
Transcript for 'NDIS visits the National Cricket Inclusion Championships'

The National Cricket Inclusion Championships (NCIC) came about because we had three groups of cricketers with disabilities.

Blind and low vision had national championships every two years, the Deaf and hard of hearing cricketers every four years, and cricketers with an intellectual disability didn't have an opportunity. So, we brought it all under the one umbrella as a great celebration of cricket.

Related Stories and videos

Daynah plays cricket, AFL and basketball – but his favourite out of them all is cricket.

Daynah's drive to make cricket more inclusive through employment

11 December 2021
The AFL National Inclusion Carnival is for men over 16 years of age with intellectual disability.

AFL National Inclusion Carnival

23 August 2019
Kieran is achieving a life-long goal with help from NDIS support worker

Blind Para-cyclist champion says NDIS makes life easier - on and off the track

1 December 2021
More stories and videos