Posted on:
29 July 2020

Living with autism, some of William's biggest challenges are tackling unfamiliar situations and groups of people.

William's been receiving funding from the NDIS since April 2017 for regular therapies to help him increase his confidence and independence.

Confidence gained through Occupational Therapy has allowed him to pursue his passion of robotics and connect better with his peers.

The 13-year-old has been part of his school robotics group now for two years and has travelled around the state and country for regional, state and national championships.

Transcript for 'William pursues his passion for robotics'

Related Stories and videos

Volunteer William right on track with employment supports

William puts hand up for employment supports

5 September 2023
The 44-year-old NDIS participant from Queensland is thriving in his community and embracing opportunities he once felt were out of reach.

John's built the confidence to pursue his life goals

30 October 2026
With improved woodworking skills, Tom gifts sister with stunning wedding arbour

Tom pursues dream to build thriving micro enterprise that he loves

1 April 2022
More stories and videos