We've put together a list of providers to help you, your family and carers find trusted information on continence products and providers more easily.

To be considered for the list, providers had to submit an expression of interest and meet our specific service requirements. An evaluation panel, which included a participant representative, reviewed all submissions and selected providers who met the requirements.

You can use the list to get better access to:

- transparent pricing and product information
- pricing discounts
- a wider range of products and services
- improved customer service
- clinical support and product advice (assessment is not included)
- affordable and timely supply to your chosen address, including those in rural and remote areas.

With the information in one place, you can compare various continence products more easily and choose products with more confidence.

You don't have to limit yourselves to the providers in this list – you can continue using your current provider or switch to another provider of your choice. This is an additional resource to help you purchase your continence products.

We hope you find the list useful. If you have any questions or general feedback about the continence provider list, please email assistive.tech@ndis.gov.au.

Provider selection process

We invited registered providers of continence supports to submit an expression of interest (EOI) to be part of the list.

Our evaluation panel, which included a participant representative, carefully reviewed all submissions and selected these providers based on specific service requirements.

To be eligible, providers demonstrated that they have:

- current and ongoing provider registration in Assistive Products for Personal Care and Safety
- met accessibility requirements, including complying with Web Content Accessibility Guidelines Version (WCAG) 2.0.

Minimum requirements included:

- product offer being able to cover specific urinary continence categories
- transparent pricing, including delivery

- broad geographical area coverage
 - detailed description of proposed customer interaction with NDIS participants
 - information on how they plan to carry out their reporting and data obligations.

Providers will be on the list, subject to regular review and compliance with the minimum requirements.

If you would have any questions, please email assistive.tech@ndis.gov.au.
