The latest NDIS data is now available.

This public data release includes updates to existing downloadable and interactive data previously released using 30 September 2021 data.

NDIA's data releases provide detailed insights and reports into specific areas, including participant outcomes, market data or deep dives into particular groups of participants (for example, by disability type or age group).

The NDIA regularly releases data about NDIS through pubic data releases as part of our commitment in the Participant Service Charter to be transparent.
