

The NDIA is co-designing a new Cultural and Linguistic Diversity (CALD) Strategy and action plan. We are doing this by working with people with disability from CALD backgrounds.

This information session will provide an overview of the project and share key learnings about ways to improve the NDIS for CALD people with disability.

At the end of the event, we will invite you to have your say about how the NDIS can support people with disability from CALD backgrounds achieve outcomes on an equal basis with the broader population.

We would like to invite you to an information session if:

- you have not participated in our CALD Strategy focus groups
- you are, or care for someone with disability from a CALD background
- you represent a CALD disability community or advocacy group.

You can learn more about how we are co-designing the CALD Strategy on the NDIS website.

Session details

Session times shown are scheduled for Australian Eastern Daylight Time (AEDT).

Sessions are delivered via video-conference using Microsoft Teams, and are offered over multiple dates to allow flexibility for attendees.

Each session covers the same content. Please only register for one session to give others the opportunity to attend.

Registrations close three business days prior to the session date or once tickets have sold out. We only accept individual registrations for events to ensure all attendees receive links to join.

Two business days before the event, login details will be sent to the email address you provide at registration, so please ensure you enter your email address correctly when registering.

Accessibility is important to us. If you have accessibility requirements, please advise when registering. A minimum of five business days' notice is required to book Auslan interpreters and live captioning services.

Please note: If you have requested accessibility services, these services are provided by an external provider. Your personal details will be given to the Accessibility Service at the time of booking.

For any enquiries regarding this session, please contact events@ndis.gov.au and include the session name in the subject line.
